Anti-grip curve

Molybdenum cylinder shield

Just Trade Windows know that a door's first job is to keep the bad guys out. The Ultion Star lock sits behind a molybdenum shield.

With molybdenum being 25% denser than iron, this shield protects the lock from many of the burglars' tools of choice.

It would be easy to think that the seamless curved form of the Ultion handle was just to give this modern contemporary style. But this curve also gives incredible security from drilling and the most common form of attack - lock-snapping. The handle can't be ripped from the door to expose the lock because the burglars' grip tools slide off the curve.

Deep protection.

We take your security seriously, which is why Just Trade Windows fit Ultion lock and handle systems.

Shielded behind the Ultion handle is the Ultion Star lock with a battery of defences.

This lock houses 24 hardened steel points of drill protection, springs that dismiss bump attacks and a pin system that creates over 115,000 key combinations to keep the most seasoned lock pickers busy.

Beauty is skin deep.

There is layer upon layer of strength behind the beautiful minimal exterior.

The fully reinforced Ultion handle won't be crushed by mole grips and the fixings thread through hardened steel bosses to stop twisting. Within the hardened steel shroud the Ultion lock piles on more lock snapping protection with sacrificial elements and a molybdenum core.

Just Trade Windows don't sacrifice security for appearance or appearance for security.
